NAAS is a network of non-governmental cinema spaces in the Arabic-speaking region. It gathers initiatives that attempt through their programming, events, space, outreach, and operation to support a vibrant and sustainable cinema culture with the aim of developing audiences engaging with film.

Through the yearly organization of regional encounters, film touring programs and workshops, NAAS aims to broaden the scope of films available to the Arab public and encourage dialogue around cinema and its history with the hopes of tapping into the potential presented by the collective experience of watching film in a public setting.

NAAS is a sponsored organization of ArteEast.
